The Widow and Her Son. A recent Washington letter relates the owing incident, which shows that deep own in the heart of Seceretary Stanton e wells up a fountain of true manly

About two weeks since a private in the New York regiments was killed thile on picket duty at our outposts on the Potomac. He was a young man, baloved by his companions, and the sole hope of a widowed mother. When she heard of his death she hurried on here from Rochester. hoping, through the aid of the govern-ment, to have her son's remains sent to his native place. She found that it would cost her quite a beavy sum, and far more than her slender purse would permit. Disappointed, and with her cup of serrow now filled to repletion, she was about to return unsuccessful when an old officer, Captain Maguire, volunteered to aid her through a letter to the Seceretary of War. Mr. Stanton was so impressed with her story that he immediately sent an order to the proper officer, with instructions to have the dead soldier disinterred, properly coffined, and forwarded with every memento of re-spect, to his home free of charge, to the devoted mother who had offered her all on the altar of her country.

Chaplains in the Army.

From a report of the Sceretary of War to Congress giving a list of Chaplains in the service, it appears there are four hundred and seventy-two Chaplains in the pational army, Of these New York has ninety seven; Pennsylvania, sixty-four; Massachusetts, pine-teen: Maine, eleven; New Hampshire, six; Vermont, seven: Rhode Island, four: Delaware, two, Maryteen; Ohio fourty-four: Indiana, thirty: Illinoise, forty-six; Missouri, nine; Kansas four; Iowa, twelve; Wisconsin, eleven;

Michigan, thirteen; Minnesota, two.

The Winchester correspondent of the N.
Y. Post relates the following, which as likely as not refers to one of the kindes and best hearted Chaplains and nurses in the service and known to many in this quarter:

AN INDIGNANT WESTERN CHAPLAIN. While a secession woman at Winchester, at the hospital, was reproaching some officers standing there with having come to pillage, to burn, to ravage and destroy, she aroused the ire of a western chaplain. He was a rough, and outspoken man, and in the society of the camp had learned certain expressions which are not usually found in a minister's vocabulary. It was difficult for him to listen to her reproaches with any patience when side by side our wounded and there wounded lay, receiving the same attention, and at last, unable to contain himself any longer, he broke in up-en her as she was describing what the North had done, with "Madame, that is false as hell." The well merited rebuke had its effect, and the woman said no more

How the Rebels Retreat.

Asbby has two brass her itzers and two regiments of cavalry, the man of which are all mounted, and with these mest of the fighting is done. The plan of the retreat is this:-While Jackson marches straight on, Ashby follows a mile or two in the rear with his cavalry and mounted battery. When he comes to a hill commanding the road he steps, plants his guns and awaits the approach of our column.—
As soon as the advance guard of cavalry appears in sight, a shell or two is thrown appears in sight, a shell or two is thrown at them, the cavalry scatters, and rushes back for the artillery. By the time they have come up, Ashby's men have limbered up and moved off to another hill. Our guns give them a shell as they go, and the advance, which has been retarded an hour by the operation is commenced again. By such maneuvres as these Ashby gains time enough for Jackson to retreat decently .- Strasburg cor. N. Y. Post.

The proprietor of the Wizard Oil has labored to overcome this difficulty and with perfect success, as can be seen by testing the oil in the following manner: Pour a small quantity upon any part of the fiesh, and rub the part a moment, and the Oil will disappear almost instantly. That it does not evaporate can be easily proven by putting a teaspoonful in the open air and leaving it some time, when it will be seen that the same quantity will remain, which of course would not be the case it it evaporated rapidly.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:

Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Bolis, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

J. C. Arsu & Co. Genra: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me liaving infectived a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ukers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed ine at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my hand and envered my scalp and ears with one sace, which was paintin and boshoone beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much, relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was rejoiced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Cucimalizand get it, and used if till if cured ms. I took it, as you nadvise, in small doses of a leaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scale, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that I hold you to be one of the spotles of the age, and remain ever gratefully.

Syphthis and Mercurial Disease.

New Ordanes, 25th August, 1850.

Dr. J. C. Aver: Sir, I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cound with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly gonderful in the cure of Forerond and Mercurial Disease. One of my patients had Syphilitic allegar in his throat, which were consuming his painte and the op of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Arether was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had acton away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would stom reach his heaft and hill him. But it yielded in my administration of yair Sarsaparilla: the ulcera healed, and he is well again, not of course without some dissiparation to his face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sentitive to the wenther that on a damp day she suffered excursed entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your belovatory must be a great ramedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.
